

Coaching with Jamie Broughton

Jamie Broughton
Executive Coach,
Managing Partner
Footprint Leadership

Be a Gabriel (or Gabrielle)

"The impact was almost immediate. In just a few months, his peers were coming to me saying, "Who is this new guy?!" Gabriel was recently promoted to run a large team across the country. I'd draw a straight-line connection between Jamie's coaching and his readiness to take on that elevated role."

*HR Director,
large financial services firm*

"I don't teach anyone to be a leader. I challenge your best leadership into existence."

Jamie Broughton

You've got the Goods.

But talent, drive, and endless hard work only get you so far. You also need rock-solid strategic relationships, sponsorship at talent-review time, creative opportunities to make a greater impact, and, importantly, courage and capability to accelerate your career. But that stuff isn't just a click away or sitting on a bookshelf somewhere.

Tall buildings are built on bedrock. Working with Jamie isn't a superficial tweak-and-polish experience. Instead, you'll enjoy the effectiveness and momentum of a proven coaching methodology designed for an organization's brightest emerging leaders.

So, who is this guy? For starters, he's been an executive coach for over 15 years. He holds a business degree from the University of Toronto, a professional coaching designation from the International Coaching Federation, and an adult education diploma. After a life-altering personal experience in the mid-1990s (ask him about it—it will give you shivers) caused him to re-think everything, he parlayed a successful sales and marketing career with a multinational corporation into Footprint Leadership, a consulting and coaching company specializing in developing high-potential employees.

In fact, he's North America's Emerging Leader specialist. His award-winning book, The Emerging Leader: Identify, Ignite and Retain Your Company's Next Generation of Leaders, has received acclaim from best-selling authors Stephen M.R. Covey and Marshall Goldsmith, among others. He's the creator of the LinkedIn™ research group Tools to Maximize Executive Coaching ROI, host to top-tier firms seeking bottom-line results from coaching. Jamie is a highly-acclaimed speaker on the topics of leadership, coaching, and high-performance. He's also the author of hundreds of articles on the same topics and has been featured in The Globe and Mail and on CBC radio.

It isn't about Jamie. It's about you. World-class coaches know how to ignite the great stuff in others based on the uniqueness of the person they're coaching. Coaching with Jamie is practical and invigorating. He carries a deep passion and commitment for those out to push the envelope of what's possible for themselves and their organizations. It's your career. Introduce it to Jamie Broughton.

The Emerging Leader Book

Immediately increase your impact and value as an emerging producer and build an iron-clad case why growth opportunities are a win for you and the organization.

Learn more at: www.emergingleaderbook.com

1-866-YOU-MARK

www.footprintleadership.com